Engineering

The consultants in our Engineering team have over fifty years of relevant expertise between them. Their extensive technical understanding across a diverse range of Engineering sectors means we can provide services tailored to the specific needs of candidates and clients alike. The consultants pride themselves on their up to date industry knowledge and market trend analysis.

We offer a full portfolio of recruitment services in order to source contract, interim and permanent individuals, as well as offering bespoke services such as Executive Search, Contract Management, Payroll Services and Recruitment Advertising.

Nurturing close working relationships with clients is very important to us and is key to building a strong and sustainable partnership. Our extensive active and passive candidate network cements our position as leaders in this technical field as we are able to source and place the right candidates from Graduate to Director level. We provide recruitment support throughout the UK, mainland Europe and internationally.
